

New Products For Toyota At The Mobility Road Show 7-9 July 2005 At Donington Park

20 June 2005

Toyota will again be supporting the Mobility Road Show with its current range of models available on the Toyota Motability Scheme. These vehicles will be on hand to test drive on the track as well as on the Toyota stand.

An addition to the ride and drive line-up will be the new Aygo by Toyota. On sale from 1 July, it will be the first opportunity for visitors of the Show to drive Toyota's new model. Joining the Aygo will be the Yaris and Yaris Verso; Corolla and Corolla Verso; Avensis; RAV4 and Previa.

Swivel seats will be fitted for the first time in the Corolla and Corolla Verso and will be shown on the static display only. However all the vehicles mentioned above can still be booked during the day for a test drive on the Donington circuit accompanied by a professional driver. For convenience and further inspection modifications have also been fitted to the static display models. Specialist Toyota staff will be on hand to answer any questions about the Toyota range.

"Toyota is committed to providing continued mobility solutions for its customers and we plan to expand the programme even further in the future," commented Jon Pollock, General Manager for Toyota Fleet.

For racing fans there will be the chance to see a Toyota 90C-V Group C1 sports prototype Le Mans car. Three of these raced in Le Mans in 1990, with Geoff Lees finishing in 6th place.
